17th April 2023

Dear Parents /carers

On Friday 21st April, (Monday 24th April for years 4 and 5), your child will be bringing home (years 1-6) their homework book for this academic year. Inside you will find a homework record sheet which staff will sign at the end of every half term.

There are always mixed views around homework particularly within primary education and as a school, we see homework as something which should be purposeful, positive, impact on learning and install independent work within our children. Homework is no longer part of an Ofsted inspection and decisions as to policy are now left to individual schools/trusts to reflect what they consider to be age appropriate and relevant. Therefore, the tasks which we have set compliment what we are teaching in school and focus on the development and application of basic skills.

As the work is set half termly, there is also a flexibility of approach for parents. We are aware that some parents have requested homework with academic rigour and as a result we have now included more written tasks within our takeaway homework selections. These, sit alongside other tasks to enable all our children to "Let their Light Shine" and celebrate your child's strengths whilst allowing parents to steer homework in the direction they wish. Whatever the views on homework are, parents/carers can adopt a timetable which works for them to support the child with work outside of school without creating unnecessary pressure and creating a negative learning experience.

For parents who may wish a more structured and timetabled approach I have set out below a suggested plan for KS1 and KS2 which you may wish to follow. Please note this is only a suggestion for those wanting a more structured approach. DFE recommendations for timings are as follows and depend on the age and the type of work to be done. Spread over a few nights in short sharp sessions should keep the child's interest high rather than several hours in one night or leaving it to the last minute.

Years 1 and 2: one hour per week
Years 3 and 4: 1.5 hours per week
Years 5 and 6: 30 minutes per day

At Bunbury School, we believe that homework isn't just some joyless pursuit of knowledge. It's an integral part of learning. Beyond the chance to practice and reinforce what they've learned in class, it's also an opportunity to develop independent study and application – and character traits like perseverance and self-motivation.

As always all homework can be found on your child's class page on the website under the following tab for their year group at the top of the page.

Under this tab you will find:

- Homework task sheet for 'Summer A' which will specify: high frequency word spellings, times tables, and recommended reading.
- Takeaway homework
- Knowledge organiser for the current teaching theme
- '101 things to do before you are 11'.
- Maths fluency grids to practice basic mathematical skills (new for summer 2023)
- Plus, any further class documents individual teachers have added to support spring term homework

Spellings:

This term your child will receive 2 lists of spellings to learn.

- High frequency words: these are Department for education set expected words for each stage of learning set in the national curriculum. These words are tested at the end of KS2 in the SATs tests through the Spelling paper and within their written work. As all children, will be expected to sit these tests in Year 6 we provide everyone with the same diet of words. Please note that teachers will be looking for the application of these words in their written work across the curriculum and they may not be formally tested.
- 5 - 10 spelling pattern words: Children in KS2 are streamed for spelling. The focus of these sessions will be to look at the spelling patterns within the English language. Groups will be based on the child's spelling ability. Each week the teacher for that group will set 5-10 spellings to learn from the pattern they are exploring. These will be tested weekly. Spellings will go home on a Monday and be tested the following Monday. Spellings will usually be posted on class webpages and can be rehearsed in homework books. For those with limited access to IT equipment paper copies can be arranged by contacting the class teacher.

To aid with the learning of the high frequency word spellings these have been listed on our 'Summer A' learning sheet and split into weeks. These will not be tested weekly but we will be looking for correct application of them within written work in all curriculum areas with intermittent assessment of pupils' knowledge of these high frequency words.

All children learn differently and so therefore the homework journal should be used to suit the best learning style for your child when learning spellings. Some will like to repeatedly write out spellings and whilst others may like to use some of the ideas in the attached 'Helping your child with spelling' document.

Children also need to be fluent with their times tables and be able to recall them out of sequence at pace. On the homework sheet, we have listed the times tables and related division facts which are required to be learnt for that term. Again, please use the learning journal to document the rehearsal of these.

Reading daily is an important part of learning. It not only supports the teaching of reading but enables us to gather facts, information and vocabulary which we can then use in our writing and during our topic sessions. The books which have been recommended may either be classic children's literature or linked with the current learning in class, they can either be read alone by the child or shared with an adult.

Knowledge organisers complement our connected approach to our curriculum at Bunbury. Facts, information and vocabulary from the knowledge organiser will be used regularly during connected curriculum lessons. These have been developed by teachers to provide key facts, information and vocabulary which the children will be expected to learn and discuss within their topic sessions.

Mathletics (Rec – Year 6) will be set weekly and TT Rockstars tasks (Year 2 – 6) will be set by teaching staff through the term. These are both online programmes.

Maths fluency grids - Fluency is at the heart of the National Curriculum for maths. Children are required to know key mathematical facts and methods to aid their reasoning and problem-solving skills. Repetitive practice can help children to memorise these facts and support them to become fluent in using them. We currently use fluency grids at school which practise age-appropriate skills and these will also be added to the class homework page for years 1-6 to enable the children to also practice at home.

Take away homework and Knowledge organisers will be set in the first week of every half term to compliment the learning theme in the classroom. Children are to choose 1 task from the Takeaway list each half term and complete to a high standard. Some of the tasks will be of a practical nature and some requiring more academic rigour and application of skills and knowledge to complete. This will then be shared and celebrated in the final week of each half term around the school. Some of the tasks set will require more work than others: therefore, I would suggest if you know that you have a particularly busy half term to choose a less labour intensive project.

The Take Away celebration days for the spring term are:

Wednesday 24th May 2023

Wednesday 12th July 2023

In an era when children's mental health and wellbeing is very much in the news and high on our school agenda the school council have produced the '101 things to do before you are 11' document. We strongly believe as a staff that alongside our basic skills homework children should be encouraged to take on board some of the tasks that have been selected.

Reception

We recognise that these children are still young and many will be tired at the end of the day and at weekends. We know that trying to get children to complete further work at this point can often lead to negative learning experiences. However, we recognise even at the early stages of learning that it is important for some learning at home routines to be established.

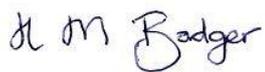

Therefore, homework for reception children will currently consist of:

- Daily reading
- Red words
- Mathematics

Homework Journals need to be brought back into school week beginning Monday 22nd May. During this week teachers, will sign the sheet inside to see that homework has been completed and children will be praised for their efforts with stickers. Take away homework will be shared within the class and across the school. A verbal comment will be made to all parents at parents evening that week as to the quality and frequency of homework completed.

Many thanks for your continued support
