Hello Bunbury,

Its Mrs Badger here again, checking in on you all – just to see if you are all well and doing okay during these strange and unusual times. Today should have been our first day back for the last part of the school year but unfortunately we will need to stay apart for a little while longer. We are listening to some very clever grown-ups who know when it is the safest for you to return to our school and we need to wait a few more weeks. I know that you have been out of school for a while now and it might be getting a little bit harder. I need you to stay strong and positive a little while longer listening to your grown-ups and keeping that Love for Learning alive.

Please don't think though for one minute that I have forgotten about you. I haven't. I think about what you are up to all the time and long to see all your fantastic projects which you have been working on.

I know many of you will have had a little break last week and enjoyed some quality time with your family in the sunshine. Mrs Badger had lots of water fights in her house and I know my children will always remember these fun times with their mum and dad for a very long time. It would be lovely to hear what you will remember the most from our time in lockdown – if you would like to share these with Mrs Badger on our Padlet it would be fantastic to see.

Soon we will be welcoming some of you back in our classrooms, back with our teachers and most importantly back with all our friends. School will be very different for a little while, but I don't want any of you to worry about what it will be like. Mrs Badger has written a little booklet for you to show you some of the changes – please get your grown-ups to read this to you as often as they can. This is their homework and I need you to help me make sure that they do it! You can find it on our website and our school Padlet.

For those of you who still remain at home we will not forget you and we are doing our best to keep in touch with you all in all the different ways we can. It would be really lovely to see some of your work on Padlet especially if you haven't posted yet. The teachers and I look at it all the time and enjoy seeing the hard work that you are still putting in. Each week the teachers help me to choose children to send my special head teachers home learning award to and it would be fantastic to have sent an award to each of you before the end of lockdown.

Whether you are at home or returning back to school you are all as equally special to Mrs Badger and you must never forget that.

Keep smiling Bunbury – hope, positivity and your incredible smiles will get us through this.

Take care and stay safe

Mrs Badger x
